We are a small business, and many of our bookings are made up to 3 years in advance.

Unfortunately, the chance of replacing an event canceled, say, two months in advance with a new one is very slim. We therefore ask for your understanding that we must charge you for cancellations depending on the notice period. However, by combining your booking with travel cancellation insurance, you can book with us worry-free even during the COVID-19 pandemic:

The link leads to the Stiftung Warentest test winner, which also provides solid coverage for COVID-19-related trip cancellations. The recommended plan is called TravelSecure® Top Protection. Of course, there are other insurance providers that now offer similar coverage as well.
