We are a small business, and many of our bookings are made up to 3 years in advance. Unfortunately, the chance of replacing an event canceled, say, two months in advance with a new one is very slim. We therefore ask for your understanding that we must charge you for cancellations depending on the notice period. When combined with travel cancellation insurance you can book with us worry-free:

The link leads to the Stiftung Warentest test winner, which also provides solid coverage for travel cancellations due to COVID-19. The recommended plan is called TravelSecure® Top Protection. Of course, there are other insurance companies that now offer this coverage as well.
